AWAKE!

Let Us Sound the Clarion Once More!

E. C. NICHOLS & CO.,

IN LUCK AGAIN!

Happening to be in the market at just the right time to take advantage of a forced sale, we were fortunate enough to secure some

$25,000 WORTH OF SILKS,

AT FROM 25 TO 50 PER CENT. LESS THAN THE IMPORTERS' OR MANUFACTURERS' PRICES.

These Goods we are opening this day and putting upon our public counter at prices which will astonish all. Many ladies of Bangor are in the habit of coming to Boston or New York to purchase their nice dresses. This we are determined to change by offering you this large lot of Silks, consisting of the best Manufactures in the World, at Lower Prices than they can be bought at Jordan, Marsh & Co.'s, C. F. Hovey's, Shepard, Norwell & Co.'s and A. T. Stewart's, or any other house in the United States! Every man in Bangor who is acquainted with these goods will tell you it is the truth, that we are selling them

Less Than Can be Bought Anywhere Regularly.

Less Than the Agents' Price.

Less Than the Importers' Price.

Don't Fail to See Them!

We shall convince you, and our only argument is Low Prices. Ladies who contemplate buying a Silk of any description this season should not let this opportunity pass.

Hotel Site to be Leased

AT GORHAM, N. H.

The Grand Trunk Railway Company of Canada offer to lease for a term of years, to responsible parties, willing to erect a First-Class Hotel, the site formerly occupied by the "Alpine House," at Gorham, N. H., together with a Farm consisting of about 40 acres of land, in a high state of cultivation, in the immediate vicinity of the proposed hotel.

The "Alpine House," which was destroyed by fire about eighteen months ago, was a trusted resort of the Railway Depot at Gorham, and about eight miles from the "Glen House," at the foot of Mount Washington. The late tenant having retired from business, is not desirous of re-building.

The "Alpine House" was a well known and favorite resort of tourists.

The Company will be prepared to grant a lease for a long term of years, and to treat very liberally with suitable parties.

THE ARKANSAS IMBROGLIO.

PARTICULARS OF TUESDAY NIGHT'S FIGHT AT LITTLE ROCK.

A despatch from Little Rock states that Col. Rose, commandant of the U. S. forces there says he had no arms Tuesday night when he rode up to the head of Col. White's column, consequently he did not attempt to fire a shot at Col. White.

Lieutenant Cushman, of the 16th Infantry, stationed at Little Rock, arrived at Memphis, Wednesday afternoon, to communicate with the President concerning the firing on Col. Rose Tuesday night, which he says he could not do at Little Rock, in consequence of the violent partizan feeling in the telegraph office.

According to his statement Col. Rose had secured an armistice between the rival factions, which was to continue until nine o'clock Wednesday morning, but that Tuesday night, Col. King White, with a regiment of armed negroes, marched down to the A. T. Doby House, where he made a violent and inflammatory speech, calling on Baxter to follow him to go ahead and clean out Brooks, the usurper, or any other d—d troops. Col. Rose, hearing the disturbance, mounted a spirited horse and rode down to inform White that he was not complying with the terms of the armistice, urging his men to that point. Col. Rose was unarmed, except with a sword, and was accompanied by an orderly armed with two holster pistols. On reaching White, Col. Rose asked what he meant by breaking the truce and ordered him to disperse his troops. White made some reply which was not heard and fired his pistol at Col. Rose, and shouted to his men to fire, which they did, generally into the air, but several persons were wounded, as already reported.—Col. Rose's orderly attempted to use his pistol but his horse became unmanageable and fled, carrying him before he could draw it from the holster. As soon as the firing commenced, Col. Rose rode back to the engine house, where Co. C, 16th Infantry, was stationed, ordered the men to run out a hook and ladder truck and form a barricade, which was speedily done and the men placed behind it.

During the excitement a private accidentally fired off a gun, when the cry was raised "The regulars are going to shoot!" and in less than ten minutes the street was deserted.

Lieut. Cushman states positively that, with the exception above stated, not a single shot was fired by the U. S. troops, or by Brooks' garrison in the barricades. He states that many ludicrous scenes occurred during the melee. Among others, the Methodist preacher was standing in front of the Anti-Doby House when the firing began, and jumping into a show window, he cut his head and followed "I'm shot! I'm shot!" And it was with difficulty he was convinced that such was not the fact.

Lieut. Cushman says that Baxter has nearly 3,000 men under arms, of whom some 800 or 900 are from Pope, Johnson and Saline counties. A number of these were either in the Federal or Confederate armies during the late war, and are armed with superior weapons. They can be relied on in a fight, and the feeling towards the Brooks' faction among this class is very bitter, and is daily growing worse. As a general thing Baxter's forces are poorly officered. On the other side Brooks has some six hundred men behind the barricades at the State House, of whom two thirds are negroes. They are well commanded, and have two ancient six-pounders in position. Baxter's men are engaged in reconstructing a 20-pounder seige piece left there during the late war. Col. Rose, with his handful of soldiers is master of the situation, but affairs are daily growing uglier.

THE AMERICAN GIRL ABROAD.—To the French nation this girl is an enigma. Where her daring, her timidity, and withal downcast eyes, as she is mad with native speech, she stands from very the sea confronts him boldly and speaks with assurance. One blushes when accosted by the other; that is to say, the man is more tested in America than the woman. The Frenchman regards this mystic as an irresistible charm; the American seems to admire upland—the eyes which look boldly into his, and the tongue which answers him with ease and gibbles. The Gallic matron affirms that she has the manners of a married woman. She goes to theatres, where her daughter is never permitted to go, and reads novels that are only allowed to the French woman with a husband; orders her raiment without comment from her mother, and receives men visitors alone, and talks to them by the hour; walks fearlessly down the Champs Elysees unattended, attired in striking colors, engages her own cab, and generally manages all affairs relating to herself. Most remarkable of all, she selects her own husband.

The French mother emphatically condemns this mode of bringing up the American girl. To her, the freedom of manner and independence of character are in bad taste, and apt to lead to results that may not be named. It statistical proof be submitted to her that such an education is not incompatible with morality, she will respond that it may suit the character of the American, but would never answer for the French girl. If she be frank, she will say that she would sooner see her daughter take the veil than follow the transatlantic mode of life. But this would never be said to an American—the rules of politeness forbid it; such confidences are for the ear of her own people. If asked by an American what she thinks of his young country women, she will probably answer that they are "charming;" hence the English and American charges of insincerity usually laid upon her shoulders. She doubtless says to herself, "A quoi bon?" let us live peacefully together while we can, and make each other happy." When there is a necessity for using a sharp tongue, it is hardly necessary to add, she is not behind her sisters of any other land.—Gulary.

ELDER KNAPP.—Multitudes have read with emotion the recent tiding of the death, at Rockford, Illinois, of the illustrious Dr. Jacob Knapp, compared with whom contemporaries are pygmies. Born in Otsego county, New York, in 1799, he evangelized as far as California on the one hand and Spain on the other. During his half century of labor, he must have been the means of awakening, according to his tally, fully a quarter of a million souls; for thirty years ago, he gave up the score at one hundred thousand. For homespun wit, sarcasm, fierceness, for an oddity sometimes seeming irreverant, yet joined to solemnity, few pulpiteers in modern times, I fancy, have equalled Knapp. Almost as dramatic as Gough, almost as mirthful in story-telling and as powerful in pathos, the Elder moved people to laughter had tears, to beatitude and terror. Like a communistic orator he felt his hearers. "Whitefield preached God," he said in one sermon, "among stones and clubs and rotten eggs and dead cats!" At the mention of cats it ran through the audience, whereupon the Elder repeated and emphasized the eggs and cats. But it must not be supposed that the only purpose of his oddities was to amuse.—"I put some wheat and some chaff in my sermon," he said, "and I throw out the chaff in hopes that some who come to get that may pick up a little wheat among it." With the same view he often gave strange titles to his discourses. When holding a revival, he sometimes preached twice a day on the first six days of the week, with a prayer-meeting, besides, every morning; and on Saturday there were three prayer meetings, or else two and one service of preaching. On Sunday he often announced his subjects for evening evenings; and here are two lists which I took down, by way of specimens from his lips:

Monday—The Personality, Character, and Doings of the Devil.
Tuesday—Why God lets the Devil live.
Wednesday—A Prayer-meeting in Hell.
Thursday—The Goodness of God.
Friday—Justice of God in the Damnation of the Wicked.

Monday—My Ox Sermon.
Tuesday—My Hen and Chicken Sermon.
Wednesday—A Funeral Sermon on Mrs. [illegible]
Thursday—Where Can I Get My Wife.

THE TROUBLES IN ARKANSAS.

Late despatches from Little Rock give some hopes of a peaceful settlement of the disgraceful struggle between the rival claimants for the Gubernatorial chair and their respective factions, and the prospect of a speedy solution of the muddle will be regarded with gratification by all lovers of law and good order. The affair has been a scandal and an offense before the whole country, and the difficulties and technicalities which surrounded it rendered it by no means easy of settlement.

The troubles had their origin as long ago as the political campaign of 1872, when Brooks is said to have received the greatest number of votes for Governor, but Baxter was declared to be duly elected. The latter has held the office for upwards of a year, and his opponent has been all the time either before the Legislature or before the courts, using his utmost endeavors to have him displaced. At length the State Circuit Court, on the 16th inst., gave a decision in favor of Brooks, though it is claimed that this decision was not made and pronounced in due form, the attorneys for Baxter not being present in court.

Brooks within five minutes after the rendering of the decision took possession of the State House ejecting Baxter by force, and at once intrenched himself there. Baxter immediately issued a proclamation, as commander in chief of the State militia, calling for volunteers, and the call was responded to by great numbers. He appealed to the President to sustain him in his position as Governor and asked him for United States troops to aid him in regaining possession of the State House. The President declined to interfere in behalf of either claimant, and instructed Col Rose commandant of the arsenal at Little Rock, to use the troops under his command to prevent a collision between the opposing forces. Baxter declared martial law, and thus matters rested for a time each side arresting individuals belonging to the other, and committing many sorts of petty annoyances whenever opportunity offered but debarred by the presence of Col Rose's well armed troops from open hostilities.

On Tuesday evening last occurred the first resort to arms, an account of which by an U. S. officer, is published on our first page. The attack, it is said, was not organized and appears to have been unpremeditated, might have proved a much more serious affair had an officer less cool and determined been at the head of the Government troops, and the people of Little Rock and of the whole State of Arkansas have reason to be grateful to Col Rose for his promptness.

But the attack may after all, result in good. Baxter finding that the U. S. Government will not aid him and that he will not be allowed to fight Brooks, has stepped down from the lofty position he took when he declared he "would retake the State House or die in the attempt," and informs the President that he proposes to call the Legislature together at an early day and let them settle the question.

This is following the advice of the President, and the tone in his telegram sent to Baxter Wednesday that the military should be withdrawn has evidently had its effect, for dispatches yesterday announce that Baxter's troops are coming home to their homes as rapidly as possible.

Brooks, however, seems inclined to hold out. Yesterday he declined to recognize Jackson whose election as Secretary of State has not been disputed, and secure in his position he declares he will continue to occupy the State House. Since his occupation he has acted on the defensive, and so far as can be learned from the meagre and evidently partizan despatches, he has the sympathy and support of the better class of people.

It will be fortunate for the State if the peaceable course can be adopted and the matter left in the hands of the people for settlement. So long as there is no actual insurrection the Federal Government has no right to interfere on one side or the other, but if house not headed wranglers are allowed to persist in their contest over the executive chair as they have begun, they will bring about a state of anarchy in Arkansas which will render interference by the Government a mercy as well as a necessity.

It is said that Horace White of the Chicago Tribune, Henry Watterson, of the Louisville Courier Journal and Marat Halstead of the Cincinnati Commercial, are on their way to Boston, where they expect to have a conference relative to the possibilities of the resurrection of the Liberal party. Samuel Bowles of the Springfield Republican was in Boston Wednesday, thus the arrangements for the conference.

The House Committee on Elections, who have had the contested election case of Sherman and J. S. Pendleton of Louisiana under consideration for some time past, have agreed by a majority vote to report a resolution that the evidence before the committee does not satisfy them that either claimant is entitled to the seat, and recommends that the parties be allowed to serve a new notice of contest and new answer, and to take further testimony. The minority of the committee, Lamar, Speer and Crossland, all Democrats, will report a resolution in favor of seating Sherman.

The Ohio State Convention of the Women's Temperance League met in Cincinnati Wednesday. There were five hundred delegates present, representing one hundred and twenty five towns and cities. A memorial to the Constitutional Convention was adopted, asking that the new constitution forbid license and require the Legislature to enact laws for compensation for injuries resulting from the sale of intoxicating liquors and giving municipal officers special legislative powers against the liquor traffic.

The public announcement of Bishop Henderson of Rhode Island, that Catholics cannot, without violating the rules of the church belong to the Ancient Order of Hibernians, on account of its secret character, has caused some little excitement among the thousands of Catholics who are members of the order.

The famous Jumel estate litigation—Geo. Washington Bowen of Providence, against Nelson Chase of New York—is again engaging the attention of the U. S. Circuit Court in New York, the pending motions being, one for a writ of error to carry the case to Washington, and another an injunction to restrain Bowen from further proceedings, as groundless and vexatious.

Senator-elect Washburn of Massachusetts, says that he is a believer in specie payments and had always favored the McCulloch plan of resumption, and voted against the measure that had made it impracticable. But while favoring a return to hard money he is prepared to advance in that direction only as fast as the safety of the business interests of the country warrant.

Baxter has apologized to Col. Rose, Commandant of the U. S. troops at Little Rock, for the affair of Tuesday night, and moreover disclaims any responsibility for it.

A London journal announces that Mr Bancroft will soon retire from Berlin, and that he will be succeeded by J. C. Bancroft Davis of New York, the present Assistant Secretary of State.

Ex-Secretary Welles in his book, brings out the striking fact that as late as Jan. 12, 1861, Mr. Seward declared his willingness to so amend the Constitution as to affirmatively indorse slavery in the States where it then existed.

"The ruling passion," etc., was exemplified in a call of the roll for the yeas and nays in the House yesterday, when a member who was an advocate of Hon. Charles Francis Adams for Senator responded, "Charles Francis ——," when he was checked by peals of laughter.—Boston Journal.

General George C. McKee, who has represented the Vicksburg district of Mississippi for some years past, on Monday caned John James Piatt, who is now in charge of the Capital in Don Piatt's absence, for an article reflecting on him which appeared in last Sunday's issue.

Standard Remedies!

The tried and true remedies for all diseases of the lungs are Schenck's Pulmonic Syrup, Schenck's Sea-Weed Tonic, and Schenck's Mandrake Pills, and if taken before the lungs are destroyed, a speedy cure is effected.

To these three medicines Dr. J. H. Schenck, of Philadelphia, owes his unrivalled success in the treatment of pulmonary diseases.

The Pulmonic Syrup ripens the morbid matter in the lungs, nature throws it off by an easy expectoration, or when the phlegm or matter is ripe, a slight cough will throw it off the patient has rest and the lungs begin to heal.

To enable the Pulmonic Syrup to do this, Schenck's Mandrake Pills and Sea-Weed Tonic must be used freely to cleanse the stomach and liver. Schenck's Mandrake Pills act on the liver, removing all obstructions, relieve the gall bladder, regulate bowels, and the liver is soon relieved.

Schenck's Sea Weed Tonic is a gentle alterative and detoxicant, the blood of which it is a component of, is the food, and prevents scurvy. It assists the digestion, by toning up the stomach to a healthy condition, so that the food and Pulmonic Syrup will make good blood, and the lungs heal, and the patient will surely get well if care is taken to prevent fresh cold.

Dr. Schenck can be consulted at the Quincy House, Boston, on Wednesday, March 25th, April 8th and 22d, May 13th and 27th.

Advice will be given free, but for a thorough examination with the Respirometer, the charge is $5.00.

Schenck's Medicines are sold by all druggists throughout the country.

Schenck's Almanac can be had of all druggists, free.
